Are you interested in joining the number one University in Greater Manchester for student satisfaction?

Here at the University of Bolton, we are proud of our growing reputation as a student focussed University. With our strategy of "Teaching Intensive, Research Informed" we are committed to offering our students the best experience possible. Due to our ongoing growth, we are now looking for two Lecturers to join our Psychology team.

Our staff are at the heart of everything we do: they are highly qualified and experienced in their fields, supporting their teaching practice by carrying out quality research and engaging in continuous professional development. Staff pride themselves on being outstanding professionals that provide excellent learning, teaching and applied research and support in the provision of custom-designed, industry led courses in numerous subject areas.

The key duties of the post holders will be to contribute to the teaching and delivery of undergraduate and taught postgraduate programmes in the Psychology Department including the academic and personal support of students.
Teaching will be a blended approach involving both on line and on-campus teaching. In addition, you will be expected to contribute to the student recruitment and admissions of programmes in the School of Education and Psychology.

A commitment to undertaking a PhD and membership of the Higher Education Academy is an essential requirement of the roles.

The successful candidate should demonstrate a practical awareness of current developments in Psychology/Criminological and Forensic Psychology and will be required to develop employment links with relevant areas to create a range of student opportunities.
